Kemény Boehme Consultants expands to the USA

Management consultancy KBC sees increasing demand from its clients in North America

Munich, 01.07.2024: Kemény Boehme Consultants (KBC) have opened a branch office in Charlotte, North Carolina, called Kemény Boehme Consultants Inc. Its task is to meet the increasing needs of its customers who are active in North America. "We are increasingly registering demand from companies that develop and manufacture in the USA," says Felix Feuerbach, Managing Director and co-founder of KBC. "The newly created KBC Inc. will work even more closely with our key accounts that have footholds in the USA," Feuerbach continues.

Tobias Budde will take over the management of the KBC Inc. site on July 1, 2024. in Charlotte. He joined KBC 12 years ago and was most recently responsible for warranty, guarantee and goodwill service in the aftersales department. For the commencement of the business activities of KBC Inc. four additional employees are initially sent to the USA with Budde. "The US government's large-scale economic stimulus programs with regard to new technologies and sustainability issues require increased consulting work on site," says the designated Managing Director of KBC Inc.
